Victoria's Independent Broad-based Anti-corruption Commission is pleased to host the 7th Australian Public Sector Anti-Corruption Conference (APSACC) in Melbourne on 30-31 October 2019.

APSACC is the leading anti-corruption event in Australia, with its focus on preventing, exposing and responding to corrupt conduct and corruption risks in public institutions, including all levels of government, elected bodies, the judiciary and statutory bodies.

APSACC 2019 will provide a further opportunity for anti-corruption and other agencies, academia, the private sector and other practitioners to discuss and share their experience and expertise.

The conference will comprise plenary sessions, discussion panels and workshops that focus on research, trends, case studies and new methods for preventing, investigating and exposing corruption.

The conference will also provide opportunities for developing professional networks across areas of expertise and jurisdiction.
